

Rewards

[illegible]

Remember that you must be rewarding more often than punishing or taking away. Remember also that being inconsistent is more powerful than being consistent. Change up what is on the rewards menu often- at least every few weeks, to keep it interesting and novel. The best way to deal with oppositional behavior is to get control over their access to things they enjoy and then sell them time with these things you provide based on how well they meet your expectations. Put them in control and wait them out.

